

Biography

Darren is a voiceover artist and impressionist, who reached the live semi finals of Britain's Got Talent, performing celebrity impressions and receiving great plaudits from the judges.

“Of all the years we’ve had impressionists on this show, I genuinely think this is the best and most original act we’ve had. Absolutely hilarious Darren, a million percent yes!” - Simon Cowell

“Very simple, brilliantly funny from start to finish. Every impression was spot on. It was a faultless audition; I’m very excited about you.” - Alesha Dixon

“What I loved about this act was that it was really intelligent and different. I loved the way each voice morphed into the next.” - Amanda Holden

“It was brilliantly funny from start to finish and a lot of those impressions I’ve never heard people do before. I’m excited about what you’re going to do next.” - David Walliams

Darren is a professional voiceover artist with his own broadcast quality studio, where he sends out voiceovers all over the world. He can be heard voicing adverts for TV and radio, voicing promos, playing characters in animations and computer games and much more!

He enjoys hosting events and award ceremonies and performing his standup material in comedy clubs. An accomplished stand up comedian, his musical ear and attention to detail has lead Darren to deconstruct voices and give the audience a hilarious master class in how to deliver celebrity impressions!

A trained musician and jazz drummer, he has recorded music for film and TV at Abbey Road studios, drummed for West End shows, played regularly at the world famous Ronnie Scotts jazz club and toured the world with jazz and pop groups.
